Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	COVID-19 and the subsequent economic effects had a significant impact on lower income households. At the Village on Sage Street, much of the population is employed in the service industry, casinos, restaurants, and warehouses which were disproportionately impacted by COVID-19. Many found themselves suddenly out of work and struggling to get on unemployment which impacted their housing. In Northern Nevada, there are many people who are working fulltime, but are struggling to afford rent.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	Individuals working fulltime whose income ranges from $8.75 - $17.00/hour have incredibly limited housing options, especially when the average monthly rent is more than $1,600.00. Waitlists for affordable housing in Northern Nevada are backlogged for months, and, in some cases, years. Additional affordable housing is needed in Northern Nevada. In addition, the American Public Health Association experts agree that affordable, sanitary housing is essential for good health and healthy communities.

Project Description	The COVID-19 pandemic's impacts have gone beyond traditional healthcare and public health response. Supporting the unsheltered population through a pandemic has presented many challenges, including the ability to retain and recruit staff to support critical shelter operations. There has been a 42 percent turnover rate at the CARES Campus, the region's primary low-barrier shelter, the last 12 months due to attrition and an inability to recruit effectively based on pay and the requirements of the job. The positions include outreach, housekeepers, case managers, and other support staff. ARPA identified a funding category to support essential workers by providing premium pay incentives for people working directly and in close physical contact with the community. This pay is only eligible for people earning 150 percent of the average annual salary in Washoe County. Based on the most recent data from the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, that amounts to $77,235 annually. This pay can provide up to $13.00 an hour on top of current salary or $25,000 total additional pay a year. All positions receiving the premium pay option qualify under these requirements. The following premium pay structure has been developed to improve retention and support significant recruitment efforts related to sheltering operations. This program expired on December 31, 2021.

Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	The City of Reno provides critical resources to the community through many different departments. COVID-19 has created staffing challenges that are mitigated by creative staffing models as well as continuous access to testing, vaccines and up to date COVID guidance.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	Across the country first responders were impacted due to the COVID pandemic and that was no different for the City of Reno. Project Description	The City of Reno, in collaboration with neighboring agencies, City of Sparks and Washoe County, will fund monitoring and environmental surveillance efforts performed by the University of Nevada, Reno at the Truckee Meadows Water Reclamation Facility (TMWRF) to determine the extent of the presence of SARS-COV2 marker in wastewater. The objective of this project is to further determine the presence of COVID-19, including variants, and to develop effective modeling tools to predict trends in the local community. The research team from the Nevada Water Innovation Institute (NWII) at the University of Nevada, Reno has previously developed a comprehensive strategy to monitor wastewater for early outbreak detection and monitoring of COVID-19 disease prevalence. The project aims to continue COVID-19 monitoring through wastewater surveillance of SARS-CoV-2 levels with increased granularity and improved methods, focus on variants of concern detection, and developing effective modeling tools to predict trends in community prevalence. Co-occurrence of other pathogens including viruses and bacteria that have implications for COVID-19 will be monitored.
